News Roundup

This week the nursery children have been using gingerbread men in their learning. They have been making their own from playdough and playing a number game with gingerbread men shapes and buttons.

Reception are still preparing for their trip to the farm. They have been enjoying the farm shop role play areas. A lot of the children have also become authors and have been writing their own story books.

Years 1 and 2 are beginning to explore the area we live in. The first of our two local walks has taken place and the children will be making maps.

It was 'Wonderland' in year 3 on World Book Day, with work taking an 'Alice in Wonderland' theme. Activities included making playing cards, potions and jam tarts.

A lot of the year 4 children had their residential trip to Lodge Hill. The rest of the children took part in a large artwork project.

Year 5 learned about Kandinsky on World Maths Day and also recorded their own data in a PE lesson to show how maths can link to all areas.

The children in year 6 also linked their art to maths by looking at some Islamic artwork.

Science Week

Unfortunately, we came very close to having to cancel our science workshops due to a shortage of voluntary contributions.

However, we are pleased to announce that thanks to a very kind donation from the business of one of our parents, the science workshops WILL go ahead next week.

Thank you to everyone who contributed, and a special thanks to www.aurora-addicts.com who helped make this possible. Why not visit their website - they have some lovely photographs!

MATHS & BOOKS

Thank you for all of your support this week with World Maths Day and World Book Day.

There were some lovely maths hats and as usual the book character costumes were fantastic!

Have a look on the school website for some photographs of the fun we had.

Don't forget that the bedtime story challenge for the infant children runs for the whole of March - we can't wait to see what books you have been reading!

Website Resources

We hope that you have had a chance to visit our new 'Wellbeing' page on the school website. It is full of useful information from keeping your child safe online to resolving fallouts with friends. If there is anything else you would like us to include - please let us know.

Don't forget quiz
night on Friday 15th
March.
