World Book Day is a day set aside every year to celebrate reading, books, authors and illustrators. It's marked in more than 100 countries around the world and is an event that Durrington Infant and Durrington Junior School celebrate each year. This year's World Book Day is on Thursday 7th March 2019.

Every pupil will be given a £1 book token which can be exchanged for one of the £1 World Book Day promotional books or redeemed against a higher value book from participating book sellers.

Dressing up

As part of the celebration, all staff and pupils of Durrington Infant School and Durrington Junior School are invited to dress for the day.

In the Infant School, we shall be introducing a bedtime story challenge after half term, so children will have the choice of coming to school wearing their pyjamas and dressing gowns or dressing as their favourite book character. If you choose pyjamas, please can you make sure that your child has underwear and a layer of clothing underneath their nightwear – they will still be outdoors for playtime and we wouldn't want them to get cold. We are asking that the children do not wear onesies. More information on the challenge will follow soon.

Junior School pupils and staff may dress up as their favourite book character for the day.

Children from both schools should bring their favourite book to school in order to receive extra house points, but please make sure that the book is named.

The pupils will spend the day completing various book related activities.

If you have any questions about World Book Day please ask your child's class teacher or visit the website www.worldbookday.com

Thank you for your support.
